AUTUMN/WINTER 2026

AUTUMN WINTER 2026

Autumn Winter menswear focuses on the art of layering, seamlessly blending a casual aesthetic with daily utility. Above all, practicality sits at the heart of the collections.

Across John Lewis, elevated winter staples, such as a pair of Japanese denim jeans, salt and pepper single-breasted overcoat and chocolate brown collared cashmere blend cardigan, provide the ultimate building blocks for a hard-working wardrobe. Paired with standouts such as a red zip-up jumper and graphic argyle zip knit, these pieces bring a strong, confident aesthetic to the new season.

The modern British man knows the importance of a coat. From double-faced wool to herringbones and corduroy, every coat and jacket in the collection is designed to be seasonally appropriate and enduringly stylish. Engineered with a distinct back-to-the-office feel, this season's outerwear works as hard as the man wearing it, prioritising everyday functionality for today's hybrid worker.

Tailoring gets a modern refresh with a focus on elevated silhouettes that feel clean and considered, seamlessly integrating into the weekday wardrobe. The range of separates has been expanded to encourage effortless mixing and matching, while performance fabrics ensure men on the go remain comfortable without sacrificing style.

Tactile, natural fibres and genuine garment-dyed techniques appear across the collection, which give each piece a lived-in appeal built to develop character over time. Premium cashmere is also imperative to the season, with own-brand designs updated with a soft hand-feel and injected with a palette of fresh, modern colours.

KIN continues to deliver a refined, modular aesthetic, blending elevated materials with modern silhouettes to offer a simplified, high-quality yet functional wardrobe. Highlights for the season include a chocolate brown suede jacket, white chore jacket and a sports inspired hooded jacket in a subtle micro check.

This season we are excited to expand our branded lineup with the launch of LABRUM, A.P.C and No Problemo alongside Grenson and Flower Mountain to bolster our accessory range. A.P.C.'s notable denim co-ord, complete with a matching tote, offers a uniform finish for the minimalists, while LABRUM's checked bomber jacket is a contemporary spin on the heritage trend, perfect for those that like to make a statement.
