SUMMER 2026

Menswear for Spring Summer focuses on hard-working staples that are timeless, offering versatile heroes to be worn season after season. Performance inspired technical jackets are added into the mix, combined with dopamine denim and textured shirts in suede and seersucker.

For John Lewis, outerwear takes centre stage. A red denim jacket injects a pop of colour, while the green technical jacket offers a playful nod to the Great British outdoors. Elsewhere, the co-ord is reimagined in indigo denim, featuring a workwear-inspired zip-up jacket paired with pleated, wide-leg jeans for a modern silhouette.

Tailoring embraces a softer, more relaxed approach to formal dressing. Fluid shapes and tonal textures offer versatility for every summer occasion. Following the launch in AW25, the J. Lewis collection returns with pieces that transition effortlessly from casual to formal settings, including a standout Italian wool crosshatch double-breasted blazer.

This season, KIN continues to lead with minimal, directional designs elevated by prints and textured fabrications. Seersucker, suede and stripes offer a crisp spring update to classic button-down shirts, while an ecru denim co-ord layered over a sunshine-yellow shirt is designed to transition the wardrobe seamlessly into brighter days.

We are excited to expand our branded menswear offering with the arrival of Parlez, Patagonia, Percival, Belstaff and Stetson this Spring. Joining them is premium resort brand OAS, whose signature printed shirt stands as a seasonal hero piece, mastering the art of effortless summer dressing.
